THE LOOKOUT AT CUSTOMS HOUSE DEBUTS: UNVEILING A DINING LANDMARK IN A HISTORIC WATERFRONT SETTING

SINGAPORE, 10 February, 2016 - The latest addition to a host of unparalleled lifestyle and dining experiences at The Fullerton Heritage, the newly launched Lookout unveils a one-of-a-kind dining destination with 360-degree views of the Central Business District and Marina Bay skyline.

Located in Customs House, which was built in the 1960s for the Singapore Customs Police, the 23-metre high Lookout was then the vantage point from which police would keep a round-the-clock vigil for boats attempting to smuggle in dutiable goods.

Ideal for special occasions ranging from intimate dinners to birthdays, anniversaries and even a proposal, the transformed perch offers a peerless setting that is complemented by highly personalised service.

With “Dining Under The Stars”, the stage is set for the ultimate celebration:

- Indulge in an epicurean menu created by the culinary team, replete with wine pairing
- Round-trip transfers to The Lookout in either a chauffeured limousine or vintage Rolls Royce (at a supplementary rate)
