A BRIEF HISTORY OF WHISTLER

The name “Whistler” has two stories of how it came about. One story has been inspired by the piercing whistle of a small mountain animal called the Marmot. It is also said, that when the wind blew and came through the mountains, it sounded like it was whistling. Alta Lake was the original name of the valley and was a wilderness area accessible only by boat from Vancouver to Squamish, and from there by foot or horseback. At the turn of the century, the economy was based on summer recreation and later, with the building of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Squamish in 1913, mining and logging.

During the 1930’s, 40’s and 50’s, early Whistler enthusiasts built cabins around the lakes. In the late 1950’s, the road was built to Squamish and by the early 1960’s, skiers had built makeshift gas-driven rope tows on two small hills in the valley. Whistler was becoming a winter retreat. On February 15, 1966 with dreams of hosting a Winter Olympics, Whistler Mountain had its official opening with 1200 vertical meters (4000 feet) of ski-able terrain and 5 ski lifts operating from what is now known as Whistler Creek. Neither of Whistler Mountain’s original bids for the Olympics was accepted, however the world-class mountain was instrumental in Whistler’s evolution as a premiere resort.

In 1975, the community was incorporated as the “Resort Municipality of Whistler”, and by 1978, a community plan was established with a pedestrian-only Village with wide walkways, clock towers and gabled roofs. The Village plan maximized sunlight and the spectacular views of the mountains.

The building of the Village began in 1979 and opened officially in the winter of 1980. That same year, Blackcomb Mountain opened for its first season and Whistler opened lifts on the north side of the mountain - linking the two mountain bases in the new Village.

Whistler has grown from its early beginnings as a summer resort to a fabulous four-season resort offering golf, tennis, mountain-biking, hiking, skateboarding, water sports, summer skiing and conference facilities, along with some of the best winter skiing and snowboarding in North America.

Whistler, together with the city of Vancouver hosted the events of the XXI Olympic Winter Games in the year 2010. Whistler provided the venue for Alpine skiing, Nordic events, ski jumping and sliding sports. The games were held from February 12-28, 2010.

WELCOME TO BEAR COUNTRY

The Black Bear is a long-time resident of the Whistler Valley and one of Whistler’s most prevalent forms of wildlife. These Black Bears are very active during the spring, summer, and fall months, often seen grazing on the grassy ski runs. Seeing a bear in its natural habitat is an exciting part of the Whistler experience.

However, as Whistler grows the wildlife habitat is encroached upon and the Black Bear’s need for protection becomes more critical. Many visits to Whistler today often results in bear sightings outside of their natural environments.

You can help us protect our bears by observing the following rules:

• Dispose of all garbage and recycling in the designated compactor sites or the many bear-proof containers found around the village. Bears that become conditioned to human food will have to be destroyed.
• Keep all garbage indoors prior to disposal.
• When hiking the trails, warn bears of your presence by making plenty of noise.
• Never attempt to approach or feed a bear, particularly abandoned pups or separated yearlings.
• Never litter while hiking. Even fruit peels can attract bears.

Encounters with a bear are rare, however if you do encounter one:

• STOP - never approach a bear for any reason
• WATCH - Always face the bear and never turn your back
• BACK UP - Walk slowly away backwards. Never run to or from a bear.
• TALK - If you think the bear knows you are close, talk quietly and tell him you are leaving. If you do not think the bear is aware of your presence, leave quietly.
• WAVE ARMS - If a bear walks towards you, wave your arms over your head while talking
• SHOUT - If a bear continues to approach, shout continuously at the bear while waving your arms. Continue to back up.
• FIGHT - Be big, noisy and aggressive.

To report a bear problem, please contact the Conservation Officer at 8.604.905.BEAR (Whistler Office).

THE ASSEMBLY POINT IS ON THE SKI RUN VIA THE BACK COURTYARD

FIRE EVACUATION
Next to the entrance door of your guest Suite is a floor plan which details the location of the Suite relevant to the nearest exits. The Suite is equipped with a sprinkler system and a smoke detector.

UPON ARRIVAL
Look around and establish the route towards the fire exits that you would take in case of a fire. Locate the nearest fire alarm pull station. The 1st floor has two exits, Lobby level has three exits, 3rd floor has five exits, the 4th and 5th floors have four exits, and the 6th floor has three exits.

IF YOU DISCOVER A FIRE
Pull the nearest fire alarm. If possible, close all doors around the fire area to contain the fire. If you can put out the fire safely please do so, but if in doubt leave the area immediately and contact Guest Services to report the fire. If you cannot reach them, contact the fire department by dialing 911. Always take your Suite key, you will need it to get back into your Suite if smoke or fire blocks your way. Stay calm, do not panic.

IF YOU HEAR AN ALARM
A continuous bell or tone signifies that it is imperative that you evacuate your Suite. Take your key with you and exit your Suite. With your hand, test the door to the hallway to see if it is hot or cool. Close the door quickly if there is a fire or thick smoke in the hall. If the hallway is clear, head to the nearest exit. If it is smoky or dark, hug the walls and keep low to the floor as you make for the exit. Check the exit door for heat before opening it. If the stairwell is safe, exit down to the lobby level. Avoid elevators, always use fire exits.

IF YOUR EXIT IS BLOCKED
Go back to your Suite. Should your stairwell start to fill with thick smoke, and your exit turns out to be unsafe, return to your Suite and contact Guest Services.

IF YOU CAN’T LEAVE YOUR ROOM
Place wet towels under the door and in air vents to stop smoke from coming in through the cracks. Remove all drapes from the windows in case fire comes through the windows. Fill your bathtub, keep plenty of water in the tub and have ice buckets and wastebaskets nearby for carrying water. Contact Guest Services and report your location. If you cannot reach them call the fire department by dialing 911. Signal your presence by hanging a wet bed sheet out your window which will signal that your Suite is occupied. Stay calm and do not panic.
