

WELCOME TO ADEGA

We are proud to present to you the work of love that gives us our name and our passion for wine. Our name originates from Latin and means “wine cellar” in Portuguese, and our passion stems from the incredible and intriguing world of fermented grapes. Here at Adega, we deliver iconic experiences with every bottle, in every pour, and in every encounter with you, our esteemed Guest. In this very extensive list, you will find distinct representations of the best wines in the world, ranging from all three major Climate Zones: Mediterranean, Continental and Maritime.

Mediterranean Climate resembles that of the Mediterranean Sea. Most notable for its hot and arid air, it produces wines with higher sugar content. Unlike its name suggests, this climate is not limited to the countries touched by the Mediterranean Sea. It also includes Napa Valley in California, Central Valley in Chile, Stellenbosch in South Africa and Western, and South Australia.

Continental Climate is characterized by the distinct season changes that occur throughout the growing season, with hot temperatures during the summer and winters cold enough for periodic ice and snow. Known for having a high degree of continentality, this climate is most often found inland devoid of significant bodies of water. Areas representative of this climate include Mosel, Pfalz and Rheingau in Germany; Alsace, Burgundy, and the Northern Rhône Valley in France; Rioja and Toro in Spain; Argentina; and others.

Maritime Climate is the coolest of the three climates, known for its proximity to large bodies of water that moderate their temperature. The breeze in many of these areas wards off heat during the day and brings down temperatures in the evening. These areas, such as Oregon, Washington; parts of Sonoma County in the US; Bordeaux, Loire Valley and Champagne in France; Rias Baixas in Spain; and others produce a clean, crisp wine with great acidity and tasteful minerals.

We look forward to having you come back time and time again to journey through the wine world, as we continue to grow and expand our selections. We believe a wine list is a living creation that needs constant care, and as such, we commit to always provide you with the best vintages available and to help you explore other options, while we update our selections. Please allow me to serve you in the best way I can and AMAZE you by showing the amount of CARE put into every guest with whom we ENGAGE!
