

Fort McDowell, Arizona

We-Ko-Pa Casino Resort

A recipient of the AAA Four Diamond Award for 15 consecutive years, We-Ko-Pa Casino Resort is an independent resort owned and operated by the Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation — which sprawls over 230 acres of scenic desert outside Scottsdale, Arizona. Surrounded by breathtaking views of the Red Mountains and Sonoran Desert, We-Ko-Pa Casino Resort is an inspiring destination for business meetings and conferences.

The Wassaja Conference Center incorporates traditional motifs of the Yavapai Nation and materials from the land it is built upon. The 25,000-square-foot center provides more than a dozen state-of-the-art venues, everything from a 3,600-square-foot executive meeting facility to an 18,000-square-foot ballroom. Outside, the wide-open spaces add 30,000 square feet for events backed by the Four Peaks mountain crest, a landmark known to the Yavapai people for thousands of years as We-Ko-Pa.

When it's time to get your group out of the boardroom for some rest and relaxation, there's no better place to unwind. Choose from spa treatments at Amethyst Spa or a round of golf on one of the two championship courses at We-Ko-Pa Golf Club to a desert Jeep or horseback riding tour along the Verde River. Guests may also relax by the pool or in the 246 renovated guest rooms and suites. For dining, guests can enjoy the highest quality of steaks and seafood prepared over wood-fired grills at the award-winning Ember, or sample craft cocktails and 35 draft beers at WKP Sports & Entertainment — which also offers live shows like dueling pianos, tribute bands, and more.
